Bill also reported on the financials through August 31, 2017 noting that within the first two months of the fiscal year, SRTS revenue has increased compared to the first two months of fiscal year 2017. Bill noted the increase in expenditures was due to vehicle repairs being up $30k from last year and the wages/benefits increased over July/August 2016. VII. Other Comments – Curt Miller informed the group that SRTS was honored during the METRO Magazine’s third annual Innovative Solutions Awards for implanting a new initiative that helped them improve training, save money, and run more efficiently. SRTS teamed with Zello to convert from a two-way radio system to a push to talk application, which reduced the agency’s cost from $2,600 per month to $360 per month for 50 buses. This new system works as well or better than the old 800 megahertz radios and eliminates the cost of buying radios.
